

EXCHANGE PREVENTS WASTE OF EFFORT IN CHARITY WORK

One of the things least understood about the work of the Maricopa County Welfare League is the confidential exchange.

The confidential exchange has been organized for the prevention of overlapping and duplication in social work. It is a directory of names of families aided by charitable and social agencies in the city, and only to be used by those organizations registering the names of such families to the confidential exchange.

It has been found in this city that as many as seven charitable organizations have been aiding one family. This means a waste of time and money and in many cases results in pauperizing the family.

Intelligent charity, after giving emergency relief, aims to readjust the problems of needy families, making them self supporting, self respecting, and worthwhile citizens of the community. This calls for intelligent and businesslike methods. The confidential exchange is one of these methods.

At the confidential exchange office files are kept with the names, addresses and list of members of individual families and the number of the families' records in the files of the social and charitable agency which registered the family with the confidential exchange.

Consequently a name turned in by any organization can be immediately identified if the family has received assistance of any kind by some other organization. Thus the organizations to whom the family or individual have appealed for help, can co-operate in assisting the family. They are not then working in the dark, each oblivious of what the other has done or is doing for the applicant. A permanent plan for rehabilitation of the family or individual can then be made.

The confidential exchange not only locates the professional beggar but what is more important, it gathers together the forces of our charitable agencies in the reconstruction of a family broken by sickness or unfortunate circumstances, of any kind.

TWO INDIANS GOT ADDRESSES MIXED

When two Indians, under the influence of liquor, entered into a game of "Find Where I Work" on North Central avenue early yesterday morning they started the neighborhood into a belief that an organized band of burglars was making an invasion. To complicate matters neither Indian knew that the other was playing the game.

Henry Juan, Indian, is employed at the home of E. M. Goldwater, 719 North Central avenue. After imbibing too freely of horse liniment, or other concoction containing a strong percentage of alcohol, Henry hired a taxicab and started home. He directed the driver to stop at the home of W. P. Kelly, 704 North Central avenue, and sought out the rear of the house, evidently mistaking the place for the Goldwater home. Members of the Kelly household heard the commotion at the back door and called the police, who placed Juan under arrest.

Only a few minutes later the Goldwater household was aroused by Harry Love, Indian, who demanded admittance on the ground that he was an employee of the place. This caused a second call to the police station and Harry was placed behind the bars with Henry to suffer up and prepare for trial in police court today.

Up on your toes go after 'em

For several years past there has been a "buying spree." Folks didn't have to sell things. The customers just naturally bought 'em. Now it's different. The customer wants his money's worth at every corner.

But in my diamond business I've been giving folks savings of 35% to 50% all along and that's why when people want diamonds they get 'em from me. I've got that kind of a reputation.

I don't use salesmanship to sell diamonds. I don't have to.

I just show 'em the diamonds and tell 'em the price and they see the saving. Then they can compare my diamonds and my prices with those of other high grade jewelers and what happens? They buy my diamonds, get the saving and are boosters for ever more.

OMNIBUS ROAD BILL REMAINS A PROBLEM

The status of the omnibus roads bill was generally discussed yesterday and members of the legislature who remained in town withheld opinions, which they said were within the province only of lawyers. They had prepared the problem; it was for the gentlemen of the law to solve it.

But there was speculation as to what would result if it should transpire that the bill had been rendered less effective than the legislature intended it to be by the Barry amendment; whether the governor would sign it.

In case he should do so the road building fund of the state would be reduced to about $400,000; that is, if the Barry amendment should be construed as striking out the project appropriations. To that would be added the gasoline tax of about $175,000 and about $230,000 from the automobile tax. That would make a fund of about $800,000.

But if the governor should disapprove the bill the ten cent tax would be left in force and that would produce a fund of $800,000, only $200,000 of which would go into the state fund, the other $600,000 going to the counties. But to the state's share there would be added the gasoline and automobile taxes making a total of $900,000.

EL PASO CONCERN SEEKING ALFALFA

The Mount Franklin Fuel and Feed company, El Paso, is in the market for 1,000 tons of alfalfa and the same amount of prairie hay and straw, according to a letter from the company received by the chamber of commerce. The communication follows:

"We are in the market at the present time for approximately 1,000 tons of alfalfa, the same amount of prairie hay, also straw.

"If you will kindly put us in touch with some one or firms who in a position to handle hay in quantities, it would be appreciated.

"Kindly give this communication to your various people in this line, asking them to handle the same, giving us quotation, delivery, also grade and kind."

Those who are interested in the foregoing letter are advised to communicate with the El Paso firm directly.

THREE ESCAPE JAIL; ARE QUICKLY CAUGHT

At 8 o'clock yesterday morning George Washington, negro; F. H. Moore, negro, and W. K. Murphy, negro, escaped from the city jail. At 8:20 o'clock they were back in jail. Police officers consider this a record round trip for local jail breakers.

In escaping from the jail the trio of prisoners followed the rear of many others by prying boards from the floor of the city assessor's office, directly above the "bull pen." After crawling up into the assessor's office an exit was made through a window.

Inspector Lucey and Motorcycle Officer Pano, went in search of the escapees and picked them up at the Arizona State Penitentiary a few minutes later. All three were locked up within 20 minutes after they had made their escape. Upon being released they had merely gone out in search of something to eat.

STATE BOND ISSUE WILL PUT $1,000,000 INTO CIRCULATION

That the contract entered into by the state loan commission for the sale of $1,500,000 tax participating bonds on Saturday will place in general circulation in the state $1,000,000 within the next month is the opinion of business men who approve the stand taken by the commission.

They declare that it will bring outside capital into Arizona that could not have been reached and will result in a general improvement in the financial situation. The eastern money will be used to cash state warrants bearing interest at the rate of 5 per cent which state employers and merchants have been unable to negotiate. The money eventually will reach the banks and be loaned to business men, adding to the prosperity of the state.

It is impossible to estimate the number of persons holding warrants they have been unable to cash. It is said that a number of small merchants within the radius of state road camps have "almost gone broke" on account of accepting state warrants as cash. Many of these stores furnishing supplies to departments of state have been in real need of funds that they were unable to secure. The road funds were among the first to be depleted and the shopkeepers have had the warrants on hand for many weeks.

The severe strain was felt when the general fund became exhausted a week before the close of the legislature, the legislators coming under the list of state officials who were unable to draw pay.

NO CLUES FOUND IN J. M. DUNN MYSTERY

No tangible clue has been found by officers in their effort to run down the murderer of J. M. Dunn, shot and killed while asleep at his home near Acre City early Thursday night. Investigation has been progressing continuously since the tragedy, but officers are apparently as far from a solution of the mystery now as when the murder was first discovered.

Officers are basing much hope for a solution of the mysterious slaying in information which the wife is expected to furnish them after she has recovered from the shock attendant upon the discovery of her husband's body.

Mrs. Dunn has been in a serious condition since the night of the murder and has been under a physician's care constantly. As a result, she has been of little aid to members of the sheriff's office working on the case. It is believed that once she has recovered, she will be able to give officers some clue as to the possible perpetrator of the crime. During the meantime, officers are conducting their investigation along the robbery theory.

Funeral services for Mr. Dunn will be held at 10 o'clock this morning at the Merryman chapel, the Rev. George Lehigh officiating.

MEXICAN SINGER TO APPEAR WEDNESDAY

A noted Mexican singer, Senorita Mercedes Mendoza, colarista soprano, who with her company of artists has recently begun a tour of this country, will appear at the high school auditorium here Wednesday night.

Senorita Mendoza has the distinction of possessing perhaps the highest voice on record in the world, it ranges reaching from the low A of the contralto to the highest note on the piano. The Houston Post says of her voice: "Senorita Mercedes Mendoza, young soprano from Mexico, displayed a voice with the widest range of pitch ever heard in Houston, before an audience of 1,000 persons at the city auditorium last evening." The Dallas Journal writes of her appearance, "Senorita Mendoza amazed and charmed the audience which greeted her Tuesday evening. Those who heard her can testify that her voice is not only high, but it is sweet and clear in the highest notes."

Senorita Mendoza is assisted by Roman Nava, tenor; Giuseppe Miceli, pianist and accompanist; Jose Hernandez, violin; Victor Eguiarte, cello, and Augustin Oropeza, flute.

FRIENDLINESS AMONG ALL WOMEN

With the idea of promoting a more friendly understanding between American and English women, a women's committee of the English Speaking Union of London has been formed under the chairmanship of Viscountess Bryce, wife of the one-time British ambassador to this country.

Arrangements are being made to provide hospitality for American women visiting England and to operate with corresponding committees here in linking up various women's activities on both sides of the Atlantic.

WELFARE LEAGUE DRIVE TO BEGIN NEXT WEDNESDAY

Actual Campaign to be Preceded by Meeting of League Workers at Chamber of Commerce Tonight

Final plans for the first financial drive by the Maricopa County Welfare League will be perfected at a big rally at the chamber of commerce tonight. Soliciting committees, to be directly in charge of the subscription work, will be appointed at this meeting.

The campaign will open Wednesday morning, Dave Goldberg, chairman of the campaign in charge, announced yesterday. Tentative plans call for a four-day drive, ending Saturday night. It is hoped that the total amount asked by the welfare league members, the Associated Charities, Maricopa County Anti-Tuberculosis association, Maricopa county health center, Council of Jewish Women and the Colored Women's Charity club—will be subscribed during the four days. If not, it is probable that the campaign will be extended until successful results are the result of the soliciting committees, Mr. Goldberg intimated.

It was originally planned to open the campaign today, but the campaign dates were changed at a meeting last Wednesday. The executive committee of the welfare league consists of L. H. Chalmers, president; Mrs. Dwight B. H. Chalmers, secretary; Mrs. Harold Baxter and Bertram Cocks.

Budgets of the five charitable organizations for the 1921 year are included in the sum to be raised by the welfare league drive. Involuntary contributions were originally extended to all charitable organizations in the city to become members of the league and to satisfy all needs in a single drive.

The idea is to eliminate repeated solicitation of merchants and business men, officers of the league explained. Much time can be saved both the merchants and the solicitors by combining budgets of all charitable associations in one big budget and asking subscription on the grand total at one solicitation.

MUCH INTEREST IN YEOMEN MASQUERADE

That the fifth annual merchants' masquerade ball to be given next Thursday by the local Yeomen lodge will excel in elaborateness and exceed in attendance any given in the past is indicated by announcements regarding the plans and by the advance sale of tickets.

Annually an event of St. Patrick's day, the Yeomen's masquerade ball is made especially attractive to dance lovers by its carnival features and by the valuable prizes offered to those who mask. Heretofore cups or medals have been given to winners of winning costumes in two classes. This year nearly a score of valuable prizes make up the list of awards to be given to wearers of most original, most representative, most beautiful costumes. Prize winners on the program will offer still further opportunity for competition.

The announcement that the masquerade is to be held in the Shrine auditorium, and that Pixley's orchestra of eight pieces has been engaged, will indicate the extent to which the committee in charge is planning to cause the merchants' masquerade to retain its place in the lead of dance events of the winter season. The committee already is assured of a large number of competition for the prizes and of an even larger number of attendants, for hundreds of persons who do not dance or mask attend annually, attracted by the picturesqueness of the scene presented by the many and varied elaborate costumes.

Among merchants who have donated prizes and costumes are the Standard Furniture company, Smith Jewelry company, Owl Drug store, Adams Pharmacy, Hege and company, Corner Drug store, Ford-Levy Furniture company, Graves Indian Shop, Baswits Cigar company, Sheldon the Jeweler, Vic Hanny Clothing company, Mack Gardner, McDougall and Cassou, B. A. Funk, Talbot and Hubbard, Valley Clothing company, Ezra Thayer, Bear Drug store.

Negro Trooper Wounded

RISBEE—A negro trooper of the Texas Cavalry, stationed at Fort Huachuca, was shot in the head Saturday afternoon by a brother trooper, and is now in the hospital at the fort in a serious condition. The soldier who did the shooting is held under arrest.

It is reported that the soldiers were returning from drill when an altercation arose between the two and resulted in the shooting. The bullet struck the man in the forehead, between the eyes.

The names of the two troopers could not be learned yesterday.—Review.

FEW TICKETS LEFT FOR IRISH RELIEF DINNER THURSDAY

Only a few tickets remain for the dinner to be given at the Hotel Adams Thursday evening, St. Patrick's day, for the relief of women and children of the devastated regions of Ireland. It was announced last night. Plans for the event are now complete, and the proceeds are expected to complete the city's quota in the drive for funds to bring aid to the innocent victims of present conditions in the Emerald Isle. Mayor Willis H. Plunkett will be toastmaster at the dinner, which will begin at 7:30 o'clock.

FEDERAL OFFICERS ARREST G. D. SMITH

George D. Smith, alleged radical and an official of the Globe miners' union during the strike there in 1917, was arrested yesterday afternoon by J. E. Wilkie, special agent of the department of justice, following a search of his home by Wilkie and Fred Weag, United States deputy marshal. Last night he was being held at the city jail for investigation.

According to the federal officers, they found in Smith's rooms communist and bolshevik literature, which they allege he has been distributing here. Smith formerly was secretary of the state federation of labor, losing his office when the so-called radical element lost control of the federation at the convention here last year.
